Mas mahigpit na lockdown sa Metro Manila, 'di kailangang maulit: MMDA Abalos

Source: ABS-CBN News
Posted at Mar 17 2021 | 02:26 PM

MAYNILA – Malaki ang paniwala ni Metropolitan Manila Development Authority (MMDA) chairman Benhur Abalos na hindi na kailangan pang bumalik sa mas mahigpit na quarantine restrictions sakaling hindi maging epektibo ang pagpapatupad ng curfew hours para mapababa ang bilang ng mga kaso ng COVID-19 sa kalakhang Maynila. Ito'y sa gitna ng muling pagdirit ng bilang ng mga kaso ng COVID-19, na ayon sa gobyerno ay bumalik na sa lebel noong kasagsagan ng pandemya noong Hulyo 2020.

“Ako tingin ko hindi na. We must really double our efforts to make people understand ‘yung health protocol, damihan pa natin ang testing at contact tracing, doon tayo,” sabi ni Abalos sa panayam sa TeleRadyo Miyerkoles ng umaga.

Tanging granular lockdown ang pinainiral na avon sa mga lugar na maraming kaso na COVID-19. Ito'y habang ang Metro Manila ay nananatili sa general community quarantine, ang ikalawang pinakamababang quarantine level.

“Wala naman tayong lockdown ngayon po. What we have are granular. Ibig sabihin ng granular, bahay-bahay lang, kalye-kalye lang. The most, isang barangay. I don't think we'll have any lockdown at all. Hindi na mauulit siguro 'yun basta magkatulungan,” ani Abalos.

Marami na aniyang mga taong nawalan ng trabaho at nagugutom kaya’t hindi makatutulong sa ekonomiya ang malawakang paghihigpit sa Metro Manila. Mas kailangang aniya ngayon ay ang pakikipagtulungan ng publiko para makontrol ang pagkalat ng impeksyon.

“I think there are other ways of addressing this problem. Pagtulungan na natin ito nang husto at nagawa na natin nung July. Parang kumampante lang ang tao, parang ganun nakikita namin po,” sabi niya.

Magugunitang napagkasunduan ng lahat ng alkalde sa Metro Manila ang pagpapatupad ng curfew hours na alas-10 ng gabi hanggang alas-5 ng umaga sa loob ng dalawang linggo.

“Sana maunawaan niyo this would just be for 2 weeks. Asahan na sa two weeks stringent testing, contact tracing, granular lockdown para mapababa lang ang kaso at kung maayos na po ‘yan, balik na ulit sa dati,” sabi niya.

Hangarin umano nito ang mapababa ang kaso ng COVID-19 sa Metro Manila.

“Hopefully naman, in a span of 12 days, as we are talking right now, bumaba na po ito dahil hindi na biro ang numero na nakikita po natin,” sabi niya.

PhilCycling postpones national championships due to COVID-19

Source: ABS-CBN News

Posted at Mar 17 2021 | 02:27 PM

MANILA, Philippines -- PhilCycling on Wednesday announced that it has postponed its planned national championships for road, mountain bike, and BMX due to the spike in COVID-19 cases in the country.

The federation was planning to hold its national championships in May and June.

"The priority is always the health and safety of everyone -- cyclists, officials and fans," said PhilCycling president Rep. Abraham "Bambol" Tolentino. "No questions asked."

There has been a spike in COVID-19 cases in the Philippines in the past week, with the country logging 4,000 to more than 5,000 additional cases daily. On Wednesday, the Department of Health said the country has reached the same peak level as July 2020.

Given the situation, Tolentino said it is better for them to "wait and see until the pandemic is contained."

PhilCycling secretary general Atty. Billy Sumagui has been working on the national championships since January, a week after the federation elected its new set of officers last December 29 for the next Olympic cycle.

The Road and Track Commission headed by Sunshine Joy Vallejos, Oversight Commission led by Jun Lomibao and national coaches for road Ednalyne Calitis Hualda and Reinhard Gorantes have already identified the routes for the road championships at a supposed bubble environment at the Subic Bay Freeport.

The Subic Bay Metropolitan Authority headed by Atty. Wilma Eisma was already informed of the event that were supposed to be scheduled from May 5 to 8.

MTB and BMX Commission head Oscar "Boying" Rodriguez and coaches Eusebio Quiones, Frederick Farr and Renz Viaje were also laying the groundwork for the disciplines' national championships in Tagaytay City in June.

PhilCycling has also sent a letter of intent to the Inter-Agency Task Force on the Management of Emerging Infectious Diseases, informing them of their plans to hold the national championships.

The event would have been part of the selection process for the riders who will represent the Philippines in the 31st Southeast Asian Games, set for Vietnam on November 21 to December 2.

Competitions for road included individual time trial, team time trial, criterium and massed start for men and women. For MTB, lined up were the cross country, downhill and cross country mixed relay, while the racing event was set for BMX.

Close to 300 "cyclists, commissaires, support personnel and staff " are expected at the national championships.

Finance chief says fiscal prudence prepared PH to handle new COVID-19 surge

Source: ABS-CBN News
Posted at Mar 17 2021 | 02:22 PM

MANILA - The government's fiscal prudence has put the Philippines in a better position to respond to the latest challenges in the fight against the COVID-19 pandemic, Finance Secretary Carlos Dominguez III said on Wednesday.

Dominguez, who has been fending off lawmakers' and economists' calls for bigger stimulus spending, said the government was never under the illusion that this challenge would be short.

"We were prepared to fight a long battle, exercising prudence over the use of our fiscal resources. The worst we could have done was to run out of water before the fire went out," the Finance chief said in an online forum organized by the Asian Development Bank.

Dominguez said the government may need to administer vaccines for years until the virus becomes extinct.

"This is precisely the reason why we are committed to maintain fiscal prudence even as we try to stimulate the economy."

The Philippines has received some criticism for its stimulus spending in response to COVID-19, which is relatively smaller compared to the spending packages of other countries in the region.

Some economists have called the government's stimulus measures "stingy" while a business leader commented that the country's stimulus measures were like a pistol, when what was needed was a bazooka.

Lawmakers, including allies of the administration have proposed a P420 billion spending package, which they said would be more effective at stimulating the economy.

Dominguez however has thumbed down proposals to further boost spending beyond what was programmed in this year's budget.

"We recognize that the present economic downturn cannot be fully confronted by throwing subsidies at everything in sight. This would only fuel inflation without driving expansion," Dominguez said.

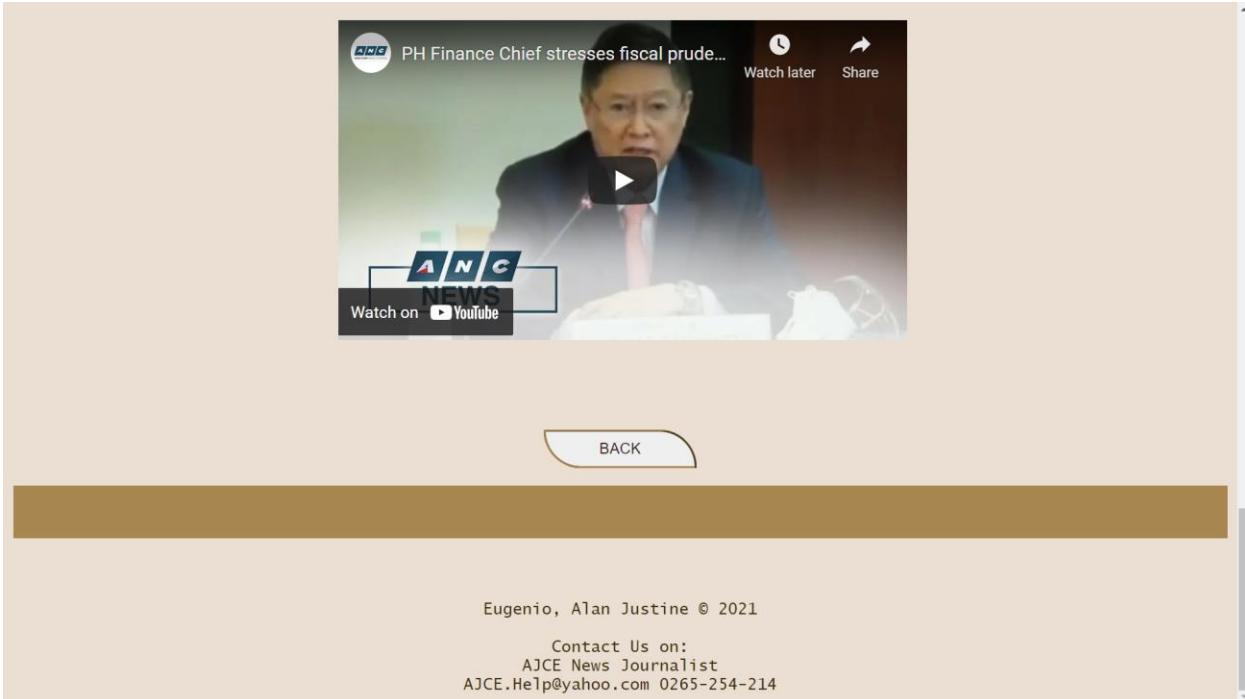

He added that the more sustainable path to recovery is to foster the revival of enterprises and the restoration of consumer activity.

Dominguez said fiscal prudence must remain a permanent fixture in Philippine budgeting and spending.

"The world is never going to return to pre-pandemic conditions. We have become more aware that the harrowing public health crisis we have gone through will not be the last. We must be better prepared to deal with future outbreaks."

Last year, the Philippine economy suffered its worst contraction since the end of World War 2 as the government imposed one the strictest and longest lockdowns in the world to curb the spread of COVID-19.

Economic managers have pushed for easing of quarantine restrictions to revive the economy, but the recent surge in COVID-19 infections has instead made local governments reimpose curfews and mobility curbs.

India's COVID-19 infections rise by highest in three months

A pedestrian walks past a wall with pictures of COVID-19 frontline workers displayed along the roadside to honor them in Mumbai, India on Monday, March 15, 2021.

BENGALURU - India's daily coronavirus infections jumped by 28,903 on Wednesday, data from the health ministry showed, for the highest increase since Dec. 13 and taking the nationwide tally to 11.44 million.

Deaths swelled by 188, the highest figure in two months, to stand at 159,044.

India has the world's highest tally of infections after the United States and Brazil.

Nearly 62% of infections in the past 24 hours and 46% of the deaths were reported by the western state of Maharashtra, the country's worst affected.

The federal government has blamed crowding and a general reluctance to wear masks for the spike, ruling out the virus mutations that have been a factor in Western countries.

Maharashtra, home to India's commercial capital of Mumbai, is among the states that have already tightened rules to curb the spread of the virus.

Prime Minister Narendra Modi will discuss the rise in cases in a video conference with state chief ministers later on Wednesday.

Vietnam says homegrown COVID-19 vaccine to be available by fourth quarter

HANOI - Vietnam's first domestically developed COVID-19 vaccine, called Nanocovax, is expected to be available by the fourth quarter of this year and put into use in 2022, the health ministry said on Wednesday.

The announcement comes as more countries try to speed up development of homegrown vaccines amid tight global supply and concerns over the emergence of new strains of the virus.

"The containment of the pandemic depends largely on the development of vaccines," the ministry said in a statement.

Four Vietnamese companies were engaged in vaccine research and production and two were undertaking human tests including on Nanocovax and the Covivac vaccine, it said.

Vietnam has been relying on the AstraZeneca vaccine so far and since launching vaccinations on March 8 more than 20,000 people have been inoculated.

A health ministry official said on Tuesday there were no plans to halt its use after some European countries had suspended their rollout over reports of blood clots.

Health minister Nguyen Thanh Long said on Wednesday 1.3 million AstraZeneca doses will arrive in Vietnam by the end of March and be distributed across the country.

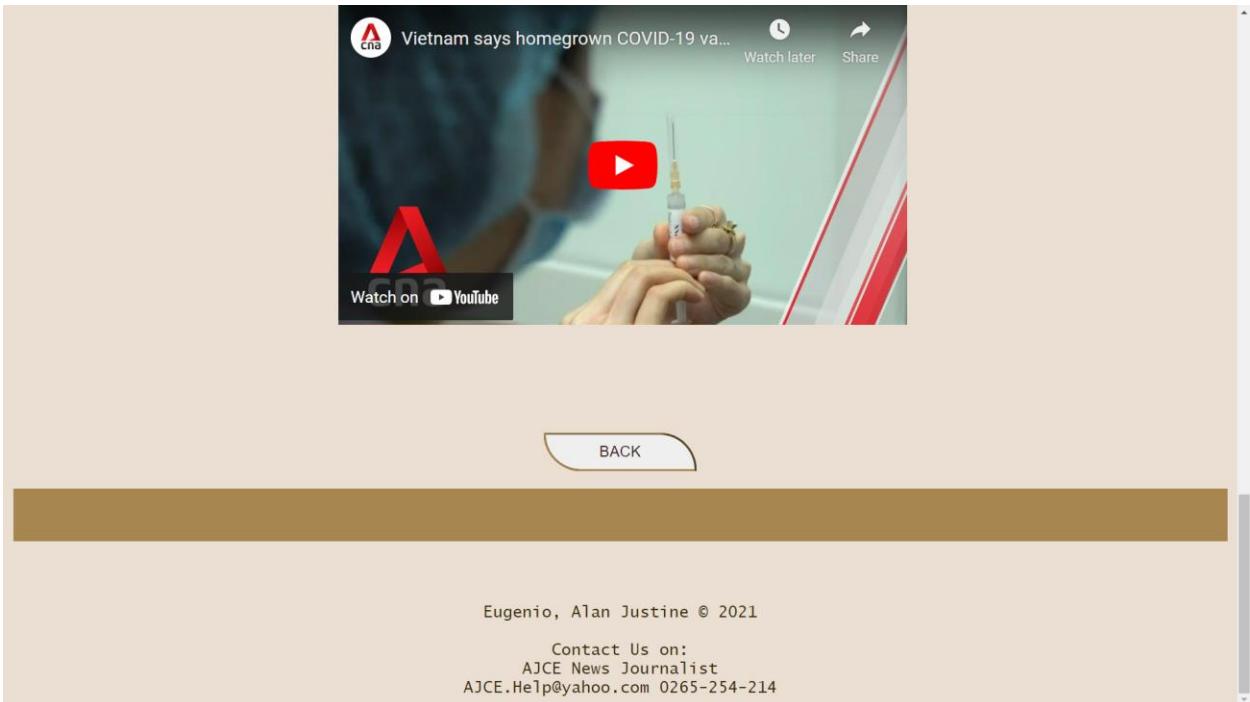

Vietnam is also in talks to buy vaccines from Pfizer-BioNTech, Moderna, Johnson & Johnson and the maker of Russia's Sputnik V, the minister said, adding that it may reach a deal to secure 30 million doses of the Pfizer vaccine this year.

The government has previously said it would acquire 150 million vaccine doses in total, including via direct purchases from producers and through the COVAX vaccine-sharing scheme.

Vietnam was praised globally for its record in containing the virus for long spells last year through mass testing and tracing and strict quarantining, though it has faced a recent rebound of infections.

The country has recorded 2,560 COVID-19 infections, with about 60 percent locally transmitted cases. It has reported just 35 deaths due to the virus.

Philippines urged to act as NCR's COVID-19 ICU beds 64% full

Source: GMA News | LLANESCA T. PANTI

Metro Manila's intensive care unit (ICU) beds for COVID-19 patients are now 64% full, an alarming development according to Health Undersecretary Leopoldo Vega.

Yes. The numbers, moderate risk na kasi iyan. It's alarming, we can be very comfortable pag low risk talaga, below mga 30% ano, Vega said in a Palace briefing when asked if the 64% occupancy rate of the ICU beds was a cause for alarm.

[We can be very comfortable if it is at a low risk level].

But this is already 60%, so alarming but we need to do something. We have to do the appropriate response in terms of capacitating our hospitals, both public and private, here in Metro Manila, Vega said.

Presidential spokesperson Harry Roque said that quarantine restrictions would be changed accordingly if the increase in health care utilization rate would continue.

If we reach the danger level which is the red zone, that may be a ground to increase the quarantine classification," Roque said.

"But we have One Hospital Command Center and Dr. Vega gas assured that we can possibly augment our healthcare capacity in Metro Manila by utilizing the healthcare capacity of the regions adjoining Metro Manila, including Calabarzon and Central Luzon," he added.

We will see, because with One Hospital Command Center, Dr. Vega will be able to estimate if we would really run short of beds or otherwise," Roque said.

I would say it is a bit of a reason to be alarmed, but given that the people are now mobilizing themselves and concentrating on lowering the numbers, we will see the results of these measures to halt the rise in cases of COVID-19," he added.

Based on Health department records, the epicenter of COVID-19 pandemic is Metro Manila with over 25,000 new COVID-19 cases in the last 14 days.

Boracay OKs saliva test for travel requirement

Source: GMA News | Consuelo Marquez
Posted at Mar 18 2021 | 04:56 PM

Travelers can avail of the saliva reverse transcription polymerase chain reaction (RT-PCR) test before entering the tourist spot Boracay Island as an alternative for the swab test, the Department of Tourism (DOT) said Thursday.

The DOT said the Boracay Inter-Agency Task Force approved the saliva test as a traveler requirement provided that it should be administered by the Philippine Red Cross and testing laboratories that have licenses from the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) and the Department of Health (DOH).

"The Department of Tourism (DOT) welcomes the approval of the saliva RTPCR test as an alternative to the nasopharyngeal swab RTPCR as one of the entry requirements to the island," the tourism department said in a statement.

The DOT said it is also willing to fund for an "RTPCR or gene expert machine as the local government unit (LGU) of Malay may propose."

The DOT also recommended to the national government that travelers aged below 15 and above 65 years old should not be prohibited from visiting Boracay Island since it is under modified general community quarantine, provided that the passenger has a valid plane ticket.

Local government units and authorities should also be vigilant for travelers who would violate minimum health standards and other travel requirements, it said.

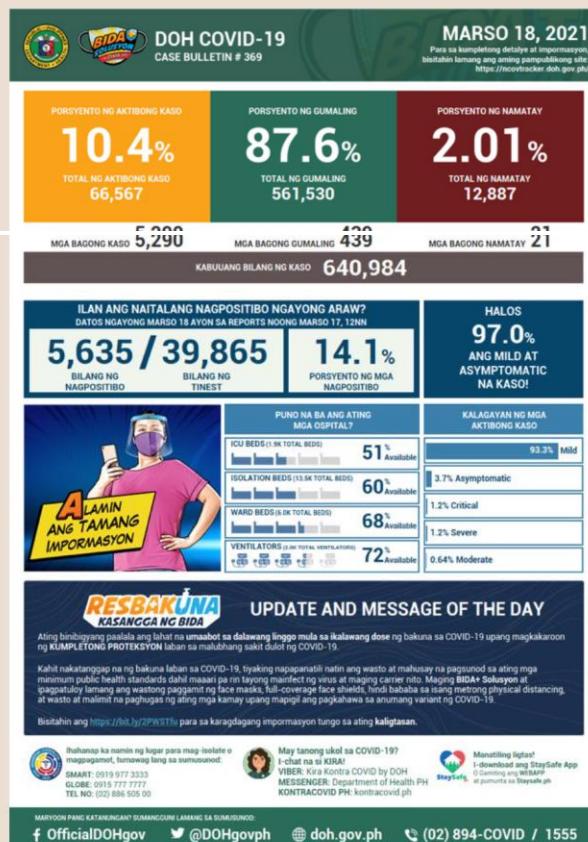

The Philippine Red Cross previously said its saliva test is as accurate as the RT-PCR, gold standard for COVID-19 testing, with an accuracy rate of 98.23 %

COVID-19 total active cases climb further to 66,567 with 5,290 new infections

The Department of Health (DOH) on Thursday reported 5,290 new coronavirus disease 2019 (COVID-19) cases, bringing the total to 640,984, even as 8 laboratories failed to submit data on time.

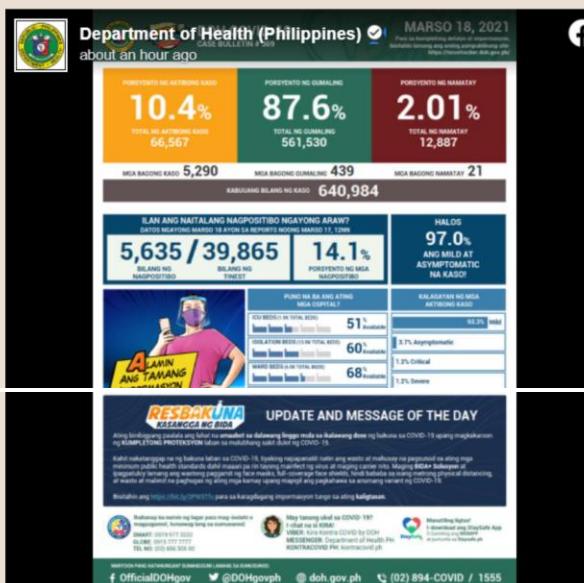

This marks the seventh consecutive day where more than 4,000 daily cases were reported.

According to the DOH, this pushed the total active cases to 66,567, setting a new record-high for this year.

Of this, 93.3 percent are mild, 3.7 percent are asymptomatic, 1.2 percent are severe, and 1.2 percent are in critical condition.

Meanwhile, total recoveries rose to 561,530 after 439 more patients recovered from the illness while 21 new fatalities brought the death toll to 12,887.

Four duplicate cases were also removed from the total case count. Moreover, 6 cases that were previously tagged as recoveries were reclassified as deaths after final validation, the DOH said.

Data from the DOH also showed that 51 percent of the country's intensive care unit beds are available while 72 percent of the mechanical ventilators are ready for use.

An expert from OCTA Research group earlier recommended to the national government to prioritize the vaccination rollout in the National Capital Region.

Moody's Analytics has said that the Philippines is not likely to achieve herd immunity against COVID-19 until 2023, which could slow the pace of its economic recovery.

Meanwhile, the Food and Drug Administration said 3.1% or 7,469 of the 240,297 individuals vaccinated against COVID-19 has reported an adverse event following immunization.

Galvez: Philippines, Johnson & Johnson to ink vaccine supply agreement soon

Source: GMA News | Julia Mari Ornedo
Posted at Mar 18 2021 | 03:58 PM

The Philippines is hopeful that it will be able to sign an agreement for a supply of coronavirus vaccines from American drugmaker Johnson & Johnson this week or the next, vaccine czar Secretary Carlito Galvez Jr. said Thursday.

"We are finalizing the language of the Johnson & Johnson [agreement] and hopefully we'll have the signing this week or next week," he told CNN-Philippines in a mix of English and Filipino.

Galvez also said the single-dose jab developed by Janssen, Johnson & Johnson's pharmaceutical arm, could be included in the portfolio of vaccines that will be donated to the country by the COVAX Facility, a global initiative for equitable vaccine access.

Janssen's Phase 3 clinical trial for its COVID-19 vaccine is currently underway in several areas across the Philippines.

The vaccine showed 66% efficacy in preventing COVID-19 in a large global trial against several coronavirus variants.

It is also 85% effective against severe COVID-19 and prevents hospitalization 28 days after immunization.

The Philippines has vaccinated 240,297 health workers as of Tuesday, three weeks since it launched its vaccination program.

Galvez: Gov't aiming for 'better Christmas' this year

Source: GMA News | Julia Mari Ornedo
Posted at Mar 18 2021 | 03:32 PM

The government is "relentless" in its goal to achieve herd immunity from COVID-19 in order for Filipinos to have a "better Christmas" this year, vaccine czar Secretary Carlito Galvez Jr. said Thursday.

"Our declaration is we will have a better Christmas this year. That needs to be our target, that we will have a better Christmas," Galvez told ANC in a mix of English and Filipino.

Galvez said the government's goal of inoculating 50 to 70 million Filipinos this year is still achievable even though the vaccination program had been off to a slow start.

"Right now we're really moving slow because we can't vaccinate all our health workers at once. Somebody needs to man the hospital in case of adverse effects," he said.

The 1,125,600 doses that have arrived in the country so far have been reserved for health workers, the top priority in the government's vaccination campaign.

The Philippines expects to receive 2.3 million more doses from Sinovac and AstraZeneca this March and millions more doses in the coming months.

"We are relentlessly looking for a stable and steady supply... We [are] very ambitious that we can vaccinate more or less 70 million people," Galvez said.

Health Secretary Francisco Duque III earlier said the government will begin inoculating 450,000 people daily starting April to fast track herd immunity.

A total of 240,297 health workers have been vaccinated as of Tuesday.
